SHERMAN MOVING PICTURES.

Moving pictures appear to be in vogue to a great extent for Hanna's Armory was again filled to standing room last night when Sherman's pictures were presented. The andlence was a decidedly good the pictures were moving ones or lantern slides, the applause was forthcoming just the same. The most popular subjects were those of catastrophes, the Galveston ruins, the Iroquois fire and the recent Baltimore fire. Those of Baltimore were the best, being taken while the water was being placed. being played upon the ruins and showing the thick coating of ice which had formed. The set of Mr. Bluebeard, the spectacle that was being played in Chicago, also came in for much favorable comment.

The illustrated songs that were inter-spersed were heard with close attention and heartily received.—New Britain, Connecticut, Herald.

Mr. Morall, with a party of these, run his muchibe down to the forthications it the head of the breakwater and carefully smiled it on to the magranite blacks, with intersities of two of granite, thus making the upper surface very uneven. Mr. Morrill started slowly and then went bounding off toward the lighthouse. The automothe granite, only to repeat the same movements. The lightbouse was reached in less than five rainutes. Mr. Morrill and his party saidled the dumb. I am prepared to do all kinds of moving stricks group, and with composure and jobbing at reasonable rates. Mr. Amerik turned his machine around and started on the return trip, which was unde in four minutes.
